TRUE CHRISTIAN COMMITMENT

Dear Friends,

Whenever I hear Christians speak of the moment that they first knew God in their lives, I find it very difficult equate their experiences with mine. As a cradle Episcopalian, being brought up in the church, I was always aware of God being a part of my life. However, there is a big difference between knowing God in our lives and becoming committed to a life of discipleship to which God calls each one of us.

It is one thing for Christians to profess their belief in God and to live out their lives trying to do God's will, but there also needs to be a commitment to a way of life which involves them in their chosen Christian community. This is not something that happens overnight, but it is something that grows (or should grow) as we progress in our faith and our knowledge of God.

God wants us to support each other in our community life together as well as in helping others. We should all try to support our own church community in any way we can, otherwise how can we grow as a church? At our recent day of exploration with the Mission Core Group "Four studies and a party" one of the things that our facilitator Helen Ball pointed out was that people seemed to be 'doing' lots of things individually, supporting various groups and charities, but really what we should try to do, (especially at this time when we are few in number) is to work together as a whole congregation. Whilst it is good for us to be involved in other activities out with our own church circle, it should not be to the exclusion of St. Cyprian's and its church life.

It was brought home to me during Holy Week how few people managed to come to the services which were prepared and celebrated in this, the most important week in the Christian Calendar and in our Christian lives. This week, more than any other, focuses on the centre of our Christian faith. It centres on Christ, who committed himself to a life of love and service to others, Christ who committed himself to leading by example, and Christ who committed himself to suffering and death on a cross for us. So what are we prepared to do for Him and for each other?

Now, more than ever, because of our small numbers it is very important that we should all make the effort to come together as a community to worship God in our own church as regularly as we possibly can. If we are to grow as a church, people need to see our commitment, week by week, month by month. If we

Magazine & DNS Deadline

The next issue of Cyprian Life should be available in Church on Sunday 27th June 2010. The deadline for material is 13th June and the magazine will cover July and August.

Please pass notes, articles, photographs and anything else that may be of interest to other members of the congregation to me by the deadline in order to give time for typesetting and printing. Electronic format is preferred since this is usually quicker and more accurate.

Please let me know about what is important to you. It is great to be able to report family events and things happening in our local community. Thank you.

This issue includes selected items from the last issue of Diocesan News. The full Diocesan News can be downloaded from the diocesan website: www.glasgow.anglican.org

Click on the link on the home page to access the current and earlier editions. If you don't have Internet access, but would like to read DNS, please let me know. I'll be happy to print you a copy.

Diocesan News is published ten times per year. If you have items that would be of interest across the Diocese, please send them to the Diocesan News editor, Susi Cormack Brown, e-mail: dns@episcopalglasgow.co.uk or by post to c/o Glasgow & Galloway Diocesan Centre, 5 St Vincent Place, Glasgow G1 2DH. Please send in prose text, i.e. not leaflets, adverts, posters or PDFs. The deadline for the June issue will be Monday 17th May 2010.

The views expressed in Cyprian Life and the Diocesan News are not necessarily those of the Editor of either publication or the Diocesan Information and Communications Group.

want to work towards having a full-time priest with us here, we should begin with ourselves and show that we would be willing to support that person wholeheartedly. Yes it is good to be involved in other good works and with organisations that we feel drawn to, but we must be careful that we don't put aside our Christian commitment to be a part of our own community of Christ, working and worshipping together as Christ's disciples.

As this edition of the magazine goes to press, I am recovering from my foot operation and there will be various Clergy supporting our congregation, providing cover for services. Please support them each Sunday and Thursday, as they give of their time to keep our community at St. Cyprian's worshipping together and growing together in Christ's love.

Yours in the service of Christ,

Moir

Cover Picture

The picture shows our new Diocesan Bishop, the Right Revd. Dr. Gregor Duncan after his consecration at St Mary's Cathedral on 23rd April 2010. With him is the Revd. Canon Brian Hardy, who preached at the service and the Bishop described as his confessor and spiritual guide over many years.

A Chance to Change the Rules

THIS issue of Diocesan News comes out in the run-up to the first UK General Election in five years.

So it's timely to take stock of how we, as Christians, choose to be stewards of our voting power. It is a seriously under-rated privilege, yet it would have seemed an asset of immense value to those who first heard Jesus' parable of the talents ('to the third servant he gave a chance to change the rules...').

Whether we have any party allegiance or none, we all have a major opportunity now to make candidates listen a little more acutely when we tell them what we want done for the sake of peace, justice and loving kindness.

We can lobby politicians on our doorsteps, at their surgeries, and in writing. We can go to hustings meetings and let them know who will hold them to account if they get into power.

Using our democratic leverage doesn't need to stop when the polling booths close either. Our freedom to put our views to those who govern gives us a continuing right - and responsibility - to speak up for those who have no voice.

'Ethics Election'

Faith think-tank Ekklesia is calling for this to be an 'Ethics Election'. In the following pages you'll find articles about some of the election issues that matter from the perspective of the Mothers' Union, Companion Dioceses, Church in Society, and our Stewardship Action Network. It makes thought-provoking reading. I hope it will stimulate prayer and action too.

Whoever is voted into power has tough choices in store. Radio4's Moneybox newsletter reported last month that the UK's debt is expected to pass the £1 trillion mark by the end of the coming year. So in 2011/12 the UK will have borrowed an estimated £24,333 for each of its 45million adult citizens. And that doesn't even take account of personal debt!

Tackling our debt burden-the figure is expected to grow by half as much again within five years-without cutting aid or services to those in need is a tall order. It will be no easier re-stimulating our economy without breaking our vital Climate Change pledges. Inevitably there will be cuts, sacrifices and hardship cases. We'll see the effects among our own neighbours here in our diocese.

And that's the perfect storm in which our new Bishop, Gregor Duncan, takes office following his consecration on 23 April.

Theologian Karl Barth told Newsweek magazine: "I always pray for the sick, the poor, journalists, authorities of the state and the Church - in that order." Whatever order you choose, please do include Bishop Gregor in your prayers as he enters this new ministry among us.

Pastoral Care

One of the important purposes of Christ's church is to provide the love and care we all need.

If you, or anyone you know, would like a visit from a priest or the opportunity for a confidential chat and a prayer, please contact the Curate, Revd. Moira Jamieson, who will be happy to help in any way she can.

St. Cyprian's also has a number of people who are authorised to visit and simply be a trusted friend who can be there to listen if you wish. Moira can put you in touch with an appropriate person that may be best qualified to help. Please telephone Moira on 0141-775 1161.

Render unto Caesar that which is Caesar's...

The General Election debate will be well under way by the time this issue of Diocesan News is out, and everyone will be having their say as to what is on offer and what they are looking for.

So how should a committed Christian fulfil proper stewardship of this democratic opportunity that we have?

What were Christ's commandments to us?

"Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself". What does that mean in a general election, where every party is trying to convince us it holds the moral high ground?

First and foremost, we should vote. God is not served by apathy or by negative protest. We are blessed generally in this country by a political class that is honest and that puts what can be done to improve our lot as a nation well above what is in it for them (despite the media hysteria about self-serving MPs and their expenses). Our mature democratic system has prevented the rise of dictatorship and extremism. We may have different priorities, but we all want the betterment of society.

Broke

As a country we are broke, though you wouldn't know it if you had just arrived here from rural India or the Congo. Perhaps that is an especially good moment to work out what our priorities really are. In the times of apparent plenty, we did not do everything with our wealth that we might have. Now, when we have to cut our cloth, where should savings come and where should we continue to spend what we can?

We have personal interests - ourselves, our families to support, commitments to be met - and it is right that this should be part of our thinking. Our challenge is to understand what our love of our neighbour and our love of God demands from us.

Third-world poverty and debt; the increasing gap between the richest and the poorest in our country; the problems of unemployment and alcohol and rampant consumerism; the morality of war and defence spending; the predominance of Rights over Responsibilities...

The lists are endless. The politicians face essentially the same problems as we do as Christian stewards: how much do we give to particular people or projects or causes? Should we cut back on our Church giving because times are hard, or should we make other sacrifices which we might notice more? God wants us to love Him, our neighbour, and ourselves. However you vote, keep that in your mind.

....and unto God that which is God's.

Festival for Scotland

A new Scottish festival of art, faith and justice takes place 25-27 June 2010 at Wiston, Biggar.

Independently run, Solas 2010 is backed by Christian festival Greenbelt and Christian Aid Scotland and aims to be hospitable to a range of faith traditions. Music includes a Russian choir and speakers include Kathy Galloy and Richard Holloway, former Primus.

Visit solasfestival.co.uk to register for booking details and updates or email office@solasfestival.co.uk.

An Equal Say in Our Common Future

IT is easy to forget the remarkable power of our democratic process. At least once every five years we are given the chance to vote.

All citizens, regardless of wealth or status, have an equal say in deciding what our common future should be. Of course, this is not to forget the realities of political life: the scandals, the broken promises, the personalities and opportunism. But politics is more than this - it is how the national community operates, expresses its values, engenders purpose, and affects policies directing our lives. As Christians we have a particular responsibility to encourage justice and social action for the poorest in our community.

Two interesting and helpful resources that view the General Election with a faith perspective are the Churches Together in Britain and Ireland website (ctbi.org.uk) and the Scottish Churches Parliamentary Office site (actsparl.org).

A Greener Faith

This is the topic of a free conference at Holy Trinity Ayr on Saturday 22 May, 10.30am-3.30pm.

Speakers Richard Murray (Diocese of Aberdeen & Orkney), Andrew Mott (Edinburgh Churches Climate Change Conference) and Professor Ian Arbon (Newcastle University) will help you explore the issues, inspire your prayer and action, and take the initiative for a greener faith.

There will be a light buffet lunch (donations welcome).

able booklet covering some of the key policy areas likely to be debated in the run up to polling day. Each subject has been prepared by a leading Christian expert or campaigner in that field. It does not represent a 'Church' view or support a party line, but is designed to encourage Christians to engage with a range of important issues facing our country. People take a range of subjects into account when they decide how to vote. This briefing outlines some of the key policy areas, but it does not cover every subject or every detail. For each subject it provides a background, raises some key issues and suggests a series of questions for personal reflection or to ask party candidates.

For example on the issue of child and family support, the following questions are highlighted:

- What can be done to help promote a positive vision for children and young people as full and active citizens in society?
- What kinds of support do families need most to help them during difficult times?
- Often vulnerable families are wary of the 'formal' services that are available to them. How would you support the voluntary sector within the community to provide services that are responsive to local needs?

Further information and resources - including a regular newsletter and blog, and an analysis of the parties' manifestos, as well as issues not covered in the booklet - are available throughout the election campaign at the churches' election website:

Abbeyfield News

The Abbeyfield Residents enjoyed a variety of events in 2009

We are pleased at the wonderful support we get for our musical evenings from the Local Girl Guides, Lenzie Union Church Choir, Lenzie Old Parish Church Choir, and Bill Semple and his grand daughter, Katy. They all come along, in good voice and at different times, to perform for us.

Early in the year the residents were invited for afternoon tea to the Irrocco Restaurant by owner Rual who has been a great supporter of the House. Needless to say we all had a great time.

In April we enjoyed a visit from Killearn Abbeyfield. Lenzie and Killearn visit each other on alternate years.

The early summer outing for lunch was to the Riverside Restaurant near Stirling. The weather was beautiful, the food was perfect and the homeward journey through the scenic Campsie Hills was wonderful - so "a good time was had by all."

Once again we appreciate the continuing support for our "Strawberry Tea" which was held in July. Because of new Health & Safety Regulations the event was held in Lenzie Old Parish Church Hall. A most sincere thanks go to all volunteers who helped to set up the hall, wash the dishes and man our fund raising stalls.

We like going to Dobbies for our autumn outing. This year we went to Stirling. As usual we all enjoyed our lunch in the Christmas decorated venue. A great place for Christmas shopping. We found their food hall amazing. Needless to say we were well laden with shopping when we got back on the bus.

Abbeyfield House is lovely. If anyone feels that they would like to see what we offer as very sheltered housing please contact the House.

New Children's Ministry Group

The Diocesan Children's Ministry Network is a new group which has been formed to look at and advance mission amongst children of primary age and under in our Diocese - what we do with children in the church, and how we might go about outreach to them.

At present, the group members are: Judy Page (convener), Anne Jones (Diocesan Child Protection Officer), Anthea Clarke, Wendy Petrie and Wilma Keenan.

The group is working to arrange regional meetings of clergy and lay people with children's interests at heart, to talk about how we may nurture the faith of the children in our various local communities, and invitations will go to churches. The first meeting will be in Ayrshire at St Ninian's Troon, Monday 17 May, 7 for 7.30pm.

Bishop David in Joint Church Call to Drop New Trident Plan

Most Revd David Chillingworth, the Scottish Episcopal Primus, wants voters to tell Westminster candidates to invest in the poor and the oppressed instead of a replacement for Trident.

In a joint letter to the UK Government, Bishop David and seven other Scottish church leaders said:

“At Easter, Christians of all traditions expressed a shared belief that God so loved the world that he sent his son Jesus Christ to suffer and die as a man.

The resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead demonstrates that security comes from faith in the vulnerability of God in Christ and not in any human creation.

“Christian moral reasoning leads us away from violence towards loving relationships with others.

“Violence is expressed in threat as well as in deed. The indiscriminate nature of nuclear weapons makes it impossible to justify them as weapons of war as their effect cannot be considered as either limited or proportionate. Therefore, the very possession of nuclear weapons is unjust and thus wrong. Churches have often expressed this concern.

“Christ came for the whole world and the security of the whole world is Christ’s concern.

“Nuclear weapons by their very existence undermine the security of the whole world and are inconsistent with the traditional theories of just war.

“We believe that tackling injustice, poverty and inequality would lead to a safer world for all. At a political level that transformation means choosing to spend money on changing the lives of the poor and oppressed and not on nuclear weapons.

“All of us have a political choice in the next few weeks.

“We call upon all people of goodwill to make it clear to candidates of all parties that we should choose life over death and the alleviation of poverty over the replacement of Trident.”

Backing the Nazareth Manifesto in 2010

How's this for a manifesto?

The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he has anointed me to bring good news to the poor. He has sent me to proclaim release to the captives and recovery of sight to the blind, to let the oppressed go free.

Jesus' policy statement (Luke 4.18) at the beginning of his public ministry, together with his searching questions and condemnation of injustice, can help our pre-election discussions and decisions.

What hard questions should we as Christians ask the candidates?

What should we lobby for, campaign about?

Justice—Trade justice—What's that all about?

Many of us buy Fairtrade products, and seven million disadvantaged producers, and their families are benefiting from Fairtrade. But they, and millions more, are still at the mercy of unfair international trade rules. That's why we need to do more than buy Fairtrade products - we need also to campaign for trade justice.

We all need money, and money comes through trading. In Rwanda, widows or child-led families can grow much of what they need to support those in their care, but not everything can be home grown. So together the widows are developing new skills to make things to sell at the twice weekly Byumba market. But conditions for trade must be fair at every level and in many developing countries farmers have been forced to move into growing cash producing crops.

The price of coffee didn't plummet in recent years simply due to oversupply. The market was flooded because dozens of countries were obliged to abandon food crops in order to produce crops for export, as a condition for loans from the World Bank.

The price of sugar hasn't hit rock bottom simply because of an oversupply: oversupply was created by trade rules which allow huge subsidies to be provided to American sugar producers.

Trade justice is perhaps the one thing that could release developing countries from the shackles of unfair practice.

Trade is not currently working for the poor. For developing countries to prosper, they need to be able to trade internationally under an open and fair system. One of the biggest problems poorer countries face is barriers to markets in richer countries.

Unfortunately, moves to reform global trading rules have been slow. As well as supporting Fairtrade, we can urge our government—after the election as well as before—to support fairer trade rules. Our voices and our votes are vital!

Among many helpful websites are www.fairtrade.org.uk and www.tjm.org.uk.

Organist Entertains

Those who have come across Carlo Curley, the world famous organist, will know this larger than life character who not only plays the organ superbly, but also provides great entertainment by virtue of his size and personality. He will be giving a recital at Holy Trinity Ayr on Saturday 5 June, the day of the Diocesan Ministry Celebration. The recital is at 7.30pm and tickets (£10) can be obtained from Mackays Music Ayr or Archie Thom (thomarchie@yahoo.co.uk). Carlo will be playing the church's new Allen organ.

Future Ministry at St Cyprian's

We are now well down the road of developing a Parish Profile, which is the first stage in the process of finding a new leader for our congregation. I and the Vestry are very grateful to everyone who took the time to come along to the meeting on Sunday 18th April where we discussed a draft profile in detail.

The Profile has now been updated with the comments made during the meeting and those received later after people had had a chance to reflect on the document. Once again, we are very grateful for all comments received and have tried as far as possible to make sure we have taken full account of them. The Profile sets the scene for the potential candidates who might be interested in coming to work with us here at St Cyprian's. Therefore it is very important that it reflects the views and aspirations of the congregation as a whole. Your opinions matter very much and we are keen to ensure that every member of the congregation has an opportunity to make a contribution to this work and have their view fully represented.

The updated Profile, which the Vestry believes is now near to being finalised, has been made available as a printed booklet in church and can be obtained from me by email. Please do make time to study this Profile and pray about it. If you have any concerns or comments please don't hesitate to contact me or any member of the Vestry.

The next stage is the production of the supporting document that gives much more information about the church, the congregation and the communities we serve. I'll be embarking on producing this, based on the sterling work done by Glennis Tavener last year, a few days after this magazine appears.

Shanty Shack Makes an Impact in Easter Garden

A make-shift shack has proved an arresting centre-piece in one church garden this year.

The thought-provoking shelter has attracted much attention from residents and visitors as they pass by the Easter garden at St Mary's in Gatehouse of Fleet.

The church's Denis Samways explains the background to the initiative: "The idea for having a shack or a shelter came to us during our Lent course, which centred on the meaning of the Cross of Christ. One of the sessions was about the suffering of thousands of children in our world.

"A member of our congregation, Robin Dean, is involved with a charity which helps street children in the cities of India, and is well aware how so many live.

"We built the shack from scrap materials, just like the ones in which so many urban poor live out their lives.

"Against the background of the three crosses in the small churchyard and with some poignant messages on the railings, it has been an apt reminder of the suffering of so many these days."

Mother Love in the Polling Booth

The Mother's Union has identified the following issues as priorities for consideration prior to voting at the General Election:

- Commercialisation and sexualisation of young people and adults;
- Family life and work;
- Gender equality;
- International development;
- Marriage and relationships.

The society we live in can be judged by how individuals treat one another and by how individuals are treated by those with power and authority.

Evidence is available that the lives of young people, especially (but not only) those who lack the love and support of parents and a community, are negatively affected by the images and sounds that bombard their senses.

The exploitative strategies directed towards the young by the mass media, and particularly the fashion, beauty, diet, music and advertising industries, are contributing to a raft of consequences such as eating disorders, depression, body image disturbances and low self esteem.

The images which depict females in submissive poses further undermine the confidence of young women and encourage young men to embrace aggressive behaviour. The consumption of such stimuli makes the development of healthy relationships which demand mutuality a much prized outcome, rather than the norm.

While the young cannot be fully protected from noxious elements there is a need for a two-pronged approach; one to equip young people to be media-literate and develop the ability to decipher the techniques and strategies used by corporate businesses to get their money and also influence how they live and feel about themselves. The second is, as has been done in other countries, conditions placed on corporate businesses to desist from unscrupulous and unethical strategies.

Sanctuary Pledge

The Mothers' Union, in line with working with families in adversity, supports Citizens for Sanctuary whose aim is to secure justice and acceptance of the need for those seeking asylum. Grassroot members are working to ensure candidates have signed the Sanctuary Pledge.

You shall love your neighbour as yourself (Matthew 22:39). We all have the power to influence; let us do so with care on 6 May.

Ann Glenesk

Ann has taken office as Diocesan President of the Mothers' Union in Glasgow & Galloway. Her commissioning will take place during the Festival Service to be held at Holy Trinity, Ayr on Saturday 15th May 2010 at 11.30am. She says: "One of my first tasks is to meet and learn from the existing members of the MU.

"I will be arranging visits to branches, churches and meeting up with Diocesan members. Meantime I would welcome contact from members who are not in these two categories and from anyone who has suggestions on how the mission of the MU within the diocese can be developed." Contact her c/o Diocesan Centre, 5 St Vincent Place, Glasgow G1 2DH or email: ann.glenesk@ntlworld.com

Festival Service 2010

The diocesan Mothers' Union extends everyone an invitation to its Festival Service, at which the Chaplain, Secretary and President will be commissioned by +Gregor. The service is on Saturday 15 May at 11am in Holy Trinity, Ayr.

Branch News

The next event for the Mothers' Union is a dinner at the Boathouse at Auchinstarry Marina near Kilsyth on Wednesday 19th May 2010. Please contact Eileen Ferry on 0141-775 0621 for more details and to book your place. It promises to be a lovely social evening so please do come along.

CHRISTIAN AID WEEK – A WAY WE CHANGE THE WORLD

Ever wondered why we do Christian Aid Week? Here are seven good reasons why we're involved...

1. We are joining with more than 20,000 churches in an unparalleled act of Christian witness to our communities – showing them we care about justice and poor people.
2. Christian Aid has a vision – an end to poverty. By being part of this week we're not only funding life-changing projects, we're helping tackle the root causes of poverty – helping to change the world for good.
3. The church has an amazing heritage of working for justice. Christian Aid Week has run every year since soon after the Second World War – demonstrating the church's faithfulness to helping the poor.
4. In these difficult financial times, the world's poorest people need our time, prayers and financial support more than ever. Christian Aid Week helps us give people the opportunity to be generous.
1. Around 300,000 volunteers give their time to deliver envelopes door to door and put on events. We are part of this movement for change.
2. We get money for nothing! Every taxpayer who signs a Gift Aid declaration on an envelope is giving Christian Aid 28 per cent extra – making even more development work possible in the world's poorest countries.
3. Christian Aid has successfully campaigned on 'dropping the debt', carbon-declaration reform and trade justice. Christian Aid Week helps world-wide structural change to take place.

CHRISTIAN AID WEEK 9–15 May 2010

We believe that poverty is a scandal and that we can really do something about it.

To find out more about how you can get involved, just ask your Christian Aid Week representative or go to www.caweek.org

POVERTY LET'S END IT

The Bishop's Consecration

St George's Day this year saw a joyous occasion at St Mary's Cathedral for both the Cathedral and the Diocese as Gregor Duncan, our Dean and interim priest here at St Cyprian's, was consecrated Bishop of the Diocese.

Songs of Praise

Sunday 23rd May at 2.30pm
Lenzie Old Parish Church Hall

We are very much looking forward to this special service. We are delighted that Elaine Duncan, who is Chief Executive of the Scottish Bible Society will be our speaker. The praise will be led by “Scotland’s Fellowship Band”- a Salvation Army Band, whose members come from all over Scotland. We hope you will come along and share this service with us. Please note the special time! This is to accommodate all the players in the band who play in their local evening service.

Opera Supper with Yuge and Judith Oguguo

Friday, June 18th at 7.30pm
The theatre in Mugdock Country Park, Milngavie

This will take place in cosy little theatre at Mugdock. Tickets will soon be available for this. As there are only 50 places, and many people are already requesting places -book early. It is anticipated the cost will be £15, which includes a buffet meal and a glass of wine.

Family News

Congratulations to Sally Pitches and Andrew Hadden, who were married at St Cyprian's on Friday 16th April.

It was a very happy occasion with lots of friends and family there to witness Sally and Andrew make their vows to each other and receive God's blessing on their marriage.

The photographs, taken by Gavin Boyd, show them and the guests as the toast is being proposed before they cut the cake during the reception held in the Church Hall.

We wish them every happiness in their life together.

Lenzie Churches Welcome You at

Saturday

Once again this year, the three Lenzie Churches will have a presence at the Lenzie Gala.

If you are able to help on the day, you will be most welcome.

Setting up of the marquees starts about 9am and the Gala opens at 12.30pm. There are lots of opportunities to help including providing

Lenzie Churches Holiday Club

The Lenzie Churches' Holiday Club is held each August and is organised by volunteers from the three Lenzie Churches. It meets during the last full week before the children go back to school after the summer break.

This year we'll be using Scripture Union's latest holiday club outline, Rocky's Plaice. SU has aimed it especially at children who are not yet part of a church community, which is great since many of the children who come now do fit that description.

SU says, "Take your table at Rocky's Plaice to find out more about Peter and how knowing Jesus changed his life, and then how he and his friends started to change the world!" Experience gripping and imaginative storytelling, creative Bible engagement, craft and game ideas, relationship-building opportunities and an invitation to get to know God.

Kirk Says No to Coal-fired Plant

A SENIOR church figure has called on the Scottish Government to dismiss an application for a coal-fired power station in the west of Scotland.

Revd Ian Galloway says if Ayrshire Power's proposals for Hunterston were approved, Holyrood's ambitious climate change targets would be 'totally discredited'.

Mr Galloway, convener of the Church of Scotland's Church and Society Council, said:

"This proposal represents the first real challenge for the Scottish Government's much applauded climate change legislation which was agreed by the Scottish Parliament last

He added: "The new application rests on the assumption that the new power station would use carbon capture and storage to reduce the emission of carbon dioxide to the atmosphere but this technology is still in its infancy and has never been proven at the scale required to work effectively in a power station of this size.

"Unless carbon capture can be made to work effectively and quickly the new power station would seriously compromise the targets included in the Act and put the credibility of Scotland's world leading position in doubt."

New Ministry and Mission Website

A NEW website will feature resources related to ministry and mission.

There is a lot of excitement and activity around in these areas of our diocesan life, and this site will provide another vehicle for sharing good news and best practice.

On these pages, Revd Dr Ann Tomlinson, the Ministry Development Officer, intends to share news of what's happening across the Diocese in the fields of ministry-for-mission, and also circulate reviews of materials, books read, courses attended, sermons given or heard.

Readers will also be able to download training materials for use individually, in congregations or across Regions.

In the next two months, for instance, two such resources will be being published by the Diocese under the auspices of the Education Action Group—one for Vestry members and another on ways of growing a culture of welcome in our charges. Both are being written in response to specific requests from members of the Diocese.

Ann says: "Do use these new pages to comment on what you read, and please feel free to offer suggestions on ways in which I can support your charge or Region in becoming more mission-shaped.

Scottish Prayer Book Society

The society extends an open invitation to its Festival on Wednesday 26 May at Holy Trinity, Ayr.

The day starts at 11am with Matins, followed by the Litany and then the Eucharist at noon. After lunch, there is a talk from stained-glass expert Susan Bradbury at 1.15pm. The Society's AGM follows at 2pm. All are welcome, including anyone who has never attended a Prayer Book service. If you require lunch, send a £3 cheque, payable to Prayer Book Society, to Mrs P Fleetwood, 32 Crompton Avenue, Glasgow G44 5TH.

Ethics Course

Tough Choices is a new 'Journey in Faith' course from the diocesan Education Action network exploring contemporary ethical issues.

It takes place in Paisley for five Tuesday evenings, starting 27 April. Sessions are:

- 27 April A Just War? Revd Prof Michael S. Northcott
- 4 May Climate Change Prof Ian Arbon
- 11 May Genetics Prof Jim H. McKillop
- 18 May Ethical Finance Revd Kathy Galloway
- 25 May End-of-Life Issues Revd Prof David Jasper.

All sessions take place 7.30-9pm at Holy Trinity & St Barnabas Church Halls, Moss Street, Paisley (next to Gilmour Street Station). This non-certificated course is open to all. To register send a £10 cheque (payable to Diocese of Glasgow & Galloway) with your contact details to Diocesan Centre, 5 St Vincent Place, Glasgow G1 2DH.

Details from Education Action convenor Revd Gordon Fyfe on 01475 673143 (gordon.fyfe@virginmedia.com).

Ministry Celebration

This year's Ministry Celebration Service will be at Holy Trinity Church, Ayr, on Saturday 5 June.

A buffet lunch will be served from noon followed by the service at 1.15pm. This year the focus will be on the ministry of Eucharistic Assistants.

Contact Revd Shelley Marsh
(office@stjamesbishopbriggs.org.uk).

Youth Week Deadline

THE application deadline for this year's Glen '10 SEC Youth Weeks is 7 June.

The Youth Weeks happen at Glenalmond College, Perthshire, each summer when young people and leaders from all over Scotland gather together for six days of sports, swimming, arts and crafts, workshops, fun events, worship and making friends.

Participants may attend either week commencing 1 August or 8 August.

The Youth Weeks are open to anyone in secondary education up to, and including, July 2010; also under-18s who have left full-time education.

It is suggested that each participant pays £110 and his/her vestry pays £90.

What's So Amazing about Grace?

The now not-so-new study group continues to follow Phillip Yancey's study resource based on his book entitled What's So Amazing about Grace.

This is powerful stuff! So far, we have covered the first four episodes of the study. The titles might give you some idea of the content: The Missing Ingredient; Letting Grace Soak In; An Unnatural Act: Extending Grace When You've Been Wronged; The Art of Forgiving.

The next two studies cover The Power of Grace to Penetrate Racism and Grace in the Face of Disagreement. They will be held at 40 Garnager Avenue on Tuesdays 18th May and 15th June between 7.30 and 9pm.

If these dates and times don't suit you, please do have a word with us. So far we have run each study at least twice because people weren't able to attend the first time it was run. We're very happy to do this because we find we often get more out of it each time we do it. Every one who comes has something different to bring, which means the studies are different.

Each study is self-contained so you can join in at any time. It's helpful if you have the individual participants guide (available in the Glasgow Christian bookshops and on-line) and a Bible, but it's not essential. For more details please speak to us.
